

Arctic Heat Wave, Say What?

Letter to the Editor, Jan 8, 2017

It seems just about everyday a new fraudulent story claiming man made climate change is doing this or that, even though just about anybody with a functional brain would question the narrative.

The one that caught me this Christmas was the massive heat wave in the arctic over Christmas and Boxing day. BBC, CTV, and even the Weather network were saying 20 degrees above normal, maybe above freezing. So I went to the weather network and searched Cambridge Bay, Victoria Island Western Arctic, -24. I then searched Iqaluit, -30, Pond Inlet, -29, and the North Pole a balmy, -26. No heat wave, situation normal. I would guess your false positive for a heat wave was the energy from the electrical magnetic storm NASA mentioned. A fair amount of energy indeed, but no heat wave.

They even went on to say that the melted sea water would absorb more sunlight and warm even more! I don't know how old you were when you learned the Arctic was in 24 hours of darkness in the winter. I was very young.

Then there is Stephan Dion our foreign affairs minister. He claims all the problems in the Middle East are the result of "Man made Climate change". Sorry Stephan, your wrong! The problems with the middle east are that it is infested with vicious, evil, savages who live to kill anyone who is slightly different, or believes something different than they do. Been going on for thousands of years with no end in sight! Nothing to do with Climate. Some people like the Israelis make the desert bloom, others just blow things up.

The one story I read from CBC that lakes are warming faster because of you guessed it, "Man Made Climate Change". Well, ??? The reason I would attest that to in our area is the massive increase in Total Organic Carbon from the millions of acres of beaver swamps draining toxic effluent into the lakes. Darker colours absorb more energy, simple science. I wouldn't worry about warming lakes as the coming winter will take care of any gain. Besides its nicer for swimming. And to be really insane, some say the Haiti earthquake was caused by man made climate change. It just seems to go from the absurd to the ridiculous.

Arctic Heat Wave, Say What?

But all these fraudsters have a right to their opinion. I just wish that main stream media would check the science out before they publish such pure crap or that new buzz word, “fake news”.

And finally, those people who want “Man made Climate Change deniers” like myself and others jailed. I say to you that you are of the same ilk as the evil morons who wanted to burn Gallileo at the stake for saying the earth is not the centre of the universe or the ones who wanted to do the same to Michael Angelo, or De Vinci, and many other great minds, simply because they could figure things out and you can't. I say people like David Suzuki, and US Attorney General Jessica Lynch who call for the jailing of climate change deniers, are the ones who need orange jump suits. You don't have the right to take away freedom of thought and speech from anyone, not now or ever! And by the way, the “Science is not settled”. Over 31,000 credible scientist have banded together to refute man made climate change but lame stream media will not talk to them because fear and fake news sell a lot better.

Doug Heal